

CATERING ASSISTANT VOLUNTEER ROLE DESCRIPTION

LHA London has been providing high quality accommodation in London since 1940 and now have fourteen large hostels providing affordable accommodation for nearly 2000 people in the capital. Our residents are young people studying or working in London, and live with LHA either to undertake educational courses, or if working, to give themselves time to familiarise themselves with London, to make friends and to decide whether or not to make more private and long term arrangements for housing.

Our amazing team of volunteers donate over 15000 hours of their time and considerable skill in order to support the organisation. Volunteers participate in a wide range of activities from governance through the board of trustees, supporting the marketing team through internships and supporting hostel operations in catering, housekeeping and reception roles.

Role details

As a catering volunteer you'll be at the forefront of our operations as part of the catering team, you'll help to maintain the highest possible standards of cleanliness and service for our residents in our dining-rooms and kitchen.

The types of duties which form part of your volunteer role vary from House to House and can change from day to day but will usually involve the following:

1. To help set up the dining room, serve meals, clear away at all meal times, e.g. breakfast, evening meals and lunch at the weekends.
2. Keep the kitchen, dining room and other catering areas clean, this includes pot washing, cleaning of appliances and operating dishwasher machine.
3. Help the Cook in basic food preparation, put away deliveries and keep the kitchen and cooking utensils clean and tidy. Adhere to Health & Safety food & hygiene regulations.

What's in it for you?

- You'll get fully trained in a key industry skill
- Have opportunity to be part of a team working environment
- Develop your language skills
- For many volunteers it's an opportunity to develop confidence and self esteem whilst experiencing new cultures
- Not to mention you'll be living in the heart of London

Details of the Arrangement

As a volunteer we recommend you carry out a minimum of 20 hours volunteering a week to get the most from the opportunity but of course if you have more time available more help is always welcome.
